Electoral College Analysis

Use the “Presidential Election of 2000, Electoral and Popular Vote Summary” to answer the following questions:

1. Who won the “popular” vote in the election of 2000? By how many votes? What percentage of the voting population does this represent?

2. Other than Florida, what is the state with the narrowest margin of difference that could have changed the outcome of the election? How many individual votes would this have required?

3. Which state has the smallest representation in the Electoral College per population? Which has the highest?
